Susan Bray, Executive Director Association of California Community College Administrators (ACCCA)

When ACCCA made the leap to offer membership in the Association to businesses and organizations that serve the community college community, we were hoping to provide a forum in which community college administrators in California, and our business members like Alliant International University, would come to better understand each other's goals and make more informed decisions.

Our educational partnership with Alliant is the realization of that hope. Alliant is in all ways about the professional development of our members. Our two organizations have in common the goal of providing a personal pathway to professional success for the administrators and managers of the largest higher education system in the world—California's community colleges. Their support of ACCCA, and our members is emblematic of their complete support of all higher education, and we are proud to call them our partner!

Dr. Rachna Kumar Dean California School of Management & Leadership at Alliant International University

Our partnership with ACCCA is exemplified by the shared goal of providing professional development to prepare leaders who will drive sustainable community growth around them. Our online Doctorate in Business Administration (DBA) will prepare leaders in the higher education segment with hands-on models and tools to utilize in managing and innovating in California's community colleges. This three-year program culminates in a dissertation in an applied field, preparing leaders to learn valuable ways to spearhead growth, improve outcomes, streamline operations and processes, and facilitate excellence in community college environments. Alliant is proud to partner with ACCCA and support their members on their pathway to professional success.

Dr. Chris Pilkington Program Director, EdD Educational Leadership and Management California School of Education at Alliant International University

Alliant is proud to be an educational partner of ACCCA and support their mission to "support current and future administrators through professional development, networking, and advocacy". This meshes well with Alliant's mission of "preparing students for professional careers of service and leadership". The program learning outcomes of our online Doctor of Education (EdD) in Educational Leadership and Management includes leading change in educational organizations in a diverse and global society while understanding the philosophical and social underpinnings of world educational systems, multiculturalism and futuristic educational trends and developments. Through this and our goal to prepare students to take what they have garnered from the coursework and utilize it to impact their communities, ACCCA Members can take the next steps on their educational journey and position themselves for professional success.
